

ABSTRACT

A mobile terminal which has a tag section and menu section in a display. The tag section displays tags indicating menu names. A controller displays contents of one of tags on the menu section when the tag is selected by operating left and right selection keys. This allows to immediately switch to other menu just by selecting a tag shown on the display. Accordingly, an easy-to-use mobile terminal which requires fewer operations is achieved.